

2009 Pacific Northwest Fish Screening & Passage Workshop

Newport, Oregon
September 14-18, 2009

The 2009 Pacific Northwest Fish Screening and Passage Workshop will be held September 14-18, 2009 in Newport, Oregon. The workshop is being held in Newport to connect the important screening and passage work done throughout the Pacific Northwest with the coastal communities that rely so heavily on salmon returns.

The Workshop will provide valuable opportunities for training, networking, and sharing of information. Throughout the workshop, fish screening and passage experts meet to share their accomplishments and successes. Workshop talks will focus on providing opportunities for technicians, engineers, and shop staff to share their experiences working with a variety of materials in various conditions to install and maintain fish screening and passage structures. The ability to network with technicians from other states improves facility design and construction techniques.

A trade show will provide information on a wide selection of materials and services that are available for use in fish screening and passage applications.

The Workshop is hosted bi-annually by Idaho, Oregon, or Washington, and attendees typically represent a variety of private, state, federal, and tribal interests.
